

Ambitions Framework: Collecting Case Studies

Page 1: Introduction

Study Information

Welcome to the 'Implementation of the Ambitions Framework' survey. The 'Ambitions for Palliative and End of Life Care: a national framework for local action' was first launched in 2015 and relaunched in 2021 for another 5-year term. It outlines six ambitions seeking to improve care, support and experience of death, dying and bereavement. You can see a recent copy of the Ambitions document here.

We are conducting a survey of people involved in commissioning, designing and delivering palliative and end-of-life care services and related activities (broadly defined) to understand how the Framework is used. As your work involves such care, we are inviting you to participate. The survey is led by Dr Erica Borgstrom (The Open University), working with Ms. Claire Henry and Dr Joanne Jordan.

The survey is about how you and others have used the Framework when designing, developing and reviewing your services or range of activities. The survey will take around 15 minutes to complete. The Open University Human Research Ethics Committee (HREC/4162/Borgstrom) favourably reviewed the study. The survey is funded by NHS England and NHS Improvement.

As part of further research, we will select some of the services that are described in the survey as case studies for more in-depth investigation. It is possible that we may wish to contact you at a future date, to ask if you would consider taking part in this further research. If you are willing to be contacted, there is an option to include your email address at the end of the survey. We will not share your address with anyone outside of the research team. We will not identify you to anyone else, including others involved in the work you describe.

Participation and Consent

Completing the survey is entirely voluntary. Your participation or non-participation will not be linked to, or impact upon, your work in any way. At the end of the survey, you have the option to enter a prize draw for a £25 gift voucher to either Amazon or Love2Shop.

Completing the survey confirms that you give consent for The Open University to use the data that you provide (i.e., your responses to the questions included in the survey).

After you have completed and returned the completed survey, you still have the right to withdraw from the study. You do not need to provide an explanation and there will be no consequences to yourself. If you want to withdraw, you can contact Erica Borgstrom (Erica.borgstrom@open.ac.uk) providing the name of the service you entered details for and the date you completed the survey. We will delete the information you have provided. Withdrawal is possible for one month after you have returned the survey; after that time the information you have provided will have become aggregated into the collective findings as part of our process of analysis.

How do I take part?

We advise that you complete the survey in one sitting to ensure your answers are saved and submitted.

At the end, there is a 'Finish' button – once pressed, it will be delivered directly to the Open University research team. In the following weeks, you may receive a reminder email; if you have already returned a completed survey, please ignore it.

If you have any questions, please contact Erica Borgstrom (erica.borgstrom@open.ac.uk). If you have concerns about how the survey is conducted, please contact Lesley.Hoggart@open.ac.uk.

Data Protection, Confidentiality and Retention

The data you provide will be processed and stored in accordance with relevant Open University policies. This means that raw data will be seen only by the researchers undertaking this work. It will be stored on university encrypted or password-protected laptops and in a dedicated folder on the university secure server. It will not be shared with anyone outside of the research team university.

In compliance with the Open University's Data Retention policy, anonymised data will be kept for a minimum of 10 years following project completion. After 10 years, all data will be destroyed.

Dissemination

We will summarise the findings of the study in a report for NHS England. This will include examples of services and practices, but not the name of individuals. At the end of the survey, you have the option to include your email address to receive a copy of this report.

Findings may also be presented at practitioner and academic conferences and published in academic journals.

Following study completion, relevant research outputs will be available on Open Research Online (ORO), the OU research data repository, available at <http://oro.open.ac.uk/>.

Accessibility

The survey has been designed for use on a standard computer (desktop or laptop). Full accessibility on a handheld device (such as a smartphone or tablet computer) cannot be guaranteed. If you have a disability or an additional requirement that makes it difficult for you to complete the survey online, please email Erica Borgstrom (contact details provided above).

Thank you

Thank you for taking the time to read this introductory information. We hope that you have found it useful. Your contribution is very much appreciated.
